About Us

Robot Lovers, Detroit's premier '80s & Others new wave band, arose from the ashes of several successful bands in June 2007. The Robots' purpose in the universe is to perform covers of '80s new wave/dance/rock tunes by artists such as Duran Duran, The Cure, J. Geils, The B-52s, The Knack, The Police, The Cult, Prince, Billy Idol, Wild Cherry, plus, many other artists from 90's and beyond.

Robot Lovers specialize in making a four-piece band sound much larger than it actually is because of the chemistry of its members. Come out and witness their masterful and enthusiastic performances of '80s and Other tunes much loved, but long forgotten, by the masses. You won't be disappointed.

Chuck (vocals, acoustic guitar & keyboards), has played in various local bands since he was 17. His mission is to keep the dance floor full!

Brian (drums and vocals), also a veteran of the Detroit music scene, has pounded the skins in numerous rock and pop bands since day one. A rock-solid rhythm-keeper with a designer's eye toward color, Brian contributed his artistic talents to the band's logo, marketing materials / promotional posters, stickers.

Derf (guitar and vocals), another long-time veteran of the Detroit music scene, only knows how to play guitar one way: like his life depends on it. He is also our web master!

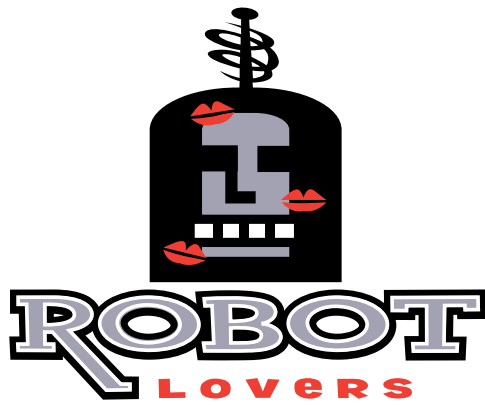

"Mike" (bass & vocals) played with just about the who's who in Detroit. Toured the U.S. and world. His bass is directly connected to the booties that shake on the dance floor. The more he grooves, the more the booties shake.
